"END OF WAR" OFFENSIVE GRINDS OUT NEW GAINS IN ALMOST EVERY SECTOR; ADVANCE SPEARHEADS OF A U. S. TASK FORCE REPORTED IN CHONGJU, WESTERN RED ANCHOR

Chinese and N. Korean Reds Withdraw Without A Fight

ATTACKS ARE ENDLESS

Allied Warplanes Furnish Round-the-Clock Support To Ground Forces

By Irvine R. Levine
INS War Correspondent

SEOUL, Nov. 25—(INS) — The United Nations "end the war" offensive in North Korea ground out new gains today in almost every sector and advance spearheads of a U. S. 24th Division task force were reported in Chongju, western anchor of the Communist defense line.

As the second day of the big push —which Gen. Douglas MacArthur has predicted will end the war by Christmas—drew to a close, Chinese and North Korean Communists withdrew without putting up a fight.

Allied warplanes gave round-the-clock close support to ground forces, unleashing the type of merciless air attacks the Chinese Reds fear most on enemy front line positions.

Night-flying B-26 light bombers pounded the Communists, allowing them no surcease from daytime fire-bombing and rocket attacks by other bombers and fighters, including B-29 Superforts.

Air reports said patrols of famed "task force Stevens" of the 24th Division were in Chongju, representing a gain of 13 miles in two days.

There was no official confirmation from ground forces, but an Eighth Army spokesman said the report was given credit because the 24th had not been meeting any resistance.

Chongju is an important railroad and highway center on Korea's western seaboard controlling two large traffic arteries leading to the Manchurian border 52 miles to the north.

Three hundred and thirty miles to the northeast the opposite jaw of the gigantic United Nations pincer began closing in on the city of Chongju, major port and industrial center 53 miles from the Soviet Siberian border.

At last report the ROK (Republic of Korea) Capitol Division had occupied ground overlooking the port city after bypassing Nanam, eight miles to the southeast and an almost equally important rail and highway hub.

From Nanam and Chongjin two electrified railroad lines run to the northeast toward the Tumen river border between Korea and Manchuria.

The only Communist resistance worthy of the name was against ROK forces on the right flank of the 75-mile United Nations northwest front in the center of the Peninsula, where the main body of Chinese Communist troops are reported.

The first ROK Division, shifted from the west coast to the central area with which it is more familiar, was beaten back twice by counter-attacking enemy units southeast of Taechon.

And the second ROK corps met what a spokesman at Eighth Army advance headquarters described as the "heaviest enemy contact" above Tokchon, enroute toward Huichon, where the Chinese are believed to have their heaviest concentration.

The Second Corps, however, continued to press its attack, but the First Division lost 2,500 yards of the seven-to-nine-thousand yards it gained in the first day of the offensive.

The first ROKS Saturday launched their own attack, and the spokesman said the situation in their sector is "now under control."

Reports from all other sectors of the northwest front, however, indicated better and easier progress for other United Nations forces.

At noon the U. S. Second Division was moving ahead at a mile-an-hour clip without meeting any enemy resistance, while the 25th Division advanced more than a mile without meeting any Communists.

Enemy troops were reported withdrawing from Taechon, but east of the stronghold city were still waging a strong rear guard action against the ROKS.

Allied troops moved through many well-prepared road blocks and prepared positions which the enemy had abandoned without a fight.

Triduum and Holiday Highlights at Eddington

EDDINGTON, Nov. 25—Highlighting the past week at St. Francis Vocational School were a triduum and Thanksgiving holiday. Right now, the Brothers' schools throughout the world are observing a "La Salle Year." This commemorates the 50th anniversary of the canonization of St. John Baptist de La Salle, founder of the Brothers, and a contributor to modern educational practice; also the tercentenary of his birth. The Triduum was in connection with this observance of the La Salle Year.

On Sunday, the Rev. Charles Wolffer, C. S. Sp., spoke of St. de La Salle, the Saint. On Monday, Brother D. Vincent F. S. C., of La Salle College, Philadelphia, spoke of St. de La Salle as an educator. "What the World Would Miss If St. de La Salle Had Not Lived." Brother G. Henry, F. S. C., spoke Tuesday on "The Lesson of St. John Baptist de La Salle to the Modern World," notably his faith and courage in the face of difficulties.

On Thanksgiving day the Holmesburg Council, Knights of Columbus, made its annual visit to St. Francis where members spent the day preparing and serving a traditional turkey dinner to the boys and entertaining them with a show. The boys began the day of thanksgiving in the chapel where they offered a mass of thanksgiving to their first benefactor.

Collapses in Elevator, Dies Short Time Later

NEWTOWN, Nov. 25—A resident of Swamp road, Arthur Roebuck, 60, manager of the Philadelphia Club, died yesterday after collapsing while riding in an elevator in the Fidelity - Philadelphia Trust Building, Philadelphia.

Albert Liscio, Philadelphia, the operator of the elevator, said he heard Mr. Roebuck fall to the floor of the elevator as the car approached the fifth floor of the building.

Liscio pulled the unconscious man into the corridor of that floor and summoned a rescue squad. After administering oxygen, the squad took Roebuck to a hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

At the Philadelphia Club, George Ramsey, assistant manager, said he believed Mr. Roebuck had been making a business visit to the office building. Mr. Roebuck, who has been manager of the men's club for the last 12 years, is survived by his wife, Elsie Knox Roebuck.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

H. A. Thompson, Drexel Hill, secretary of the Pennsylvania Association of Township Supervisors, spoke at a meeting in the New Hope high school, Tuesday evening, when 50 men and women, Solebury township property owners, met.

"The intention to zone must start with the people and not the supervisors," said Mr. Thompson, as he pointed out that zoning must start with property owners, or taxpayers, and make itself known to the officials.

William F. Taylor, Lumberville, served as the chairman.

E. P. Oberhuber, Spring Valley, and George Duval, president, both members of the Citizens Council for Bucks County Planning, spoke and conducted a question and answer period which clarified many ideas about the advantages of zoning.

It was reported that the Solebury Township Supervisors had appointed a zoning commission which had presented an ordinance.

Three Solebury township supervisors, William Savage, Cyrus Fell and George Fitting, were present. Two Upper Makefield township supervisors, John Welsh and Irvin Smith, were present.

Chairman of the Solebury Township Zoning Committee, Mr. Jussen was also present.

PETITION BOARD TO PRODUCE RECORDS

Zoning Board of Adjustment Named Defendant By Phillips Family

AN UNUSUAL CASE

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 25 — The Zoning Board of Adjustment, Doylestown (composed of William J. Kane, Jr., Norman W. Lear and Joseph R. Ruos) has been named the defendant and petitioned to produce to records in a court hearing, the first time in the history of zoning here.

The petitioners are Herman Phillips and Josephine Phillips who own property at West State and Lafayette streets, and Harry Schalcher, holder of an option for $15,000, and the action has been filed in the Court of Common Pleas, here.

The three petitioners asked that the Court issue an order to have the Zoning Board of Adjustment produce its record of the hearing in connection with its decision October 23 when the Zoning Board refused to make a variance in the Zoning Code to allow the construction of a new, streamlined service station in a residential district.

The petitioners allege, in the petition filed in the Prothonotary's Office, that they own 120.9 feet on West State street and 185.9 on Lafayette street. They argue that it has contained for 24 years a concrete block garage, or repair shop, service station, gasoline pumps and

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

The general offensive launched by United Nations forces on the Western front with the hope of ending the Korean war in quick order made gains all along the battle lines, advancing up to nearly fifteen miles at the point of maximum penetration. The enemy offered little or no resistance. Washington was reported to have reassured Moscow informally that the United Nations troops would respect the Siberian as well as the Manchurian frontier with Korea.

A delegation of seven men and two women representing the Peiping regime arrived here to present Communist China's stand on the Formosa issue before the United Nations Security Council. By a vote of 30 to 8, with 22 abstentions, the Political and Security Committee of the General Assembly agreed to invite Communist China's representatives to participate in the debate of Soviet charges that the United States had invaded China.

Further consideration by the four major powers of territories formerly held by Japan, but now occupied by the Soviet Union is one of the proposals contained in an outline for a Japanese peace treaty submitted by the United States to the other members of the Far Eastern Commission. Moscow has raised strong objection to the plan.

While the Seventh Army was being re-formed in Germany as the foundation of United States military strength in Europe, American and British officials warned Germans they could not expect the Western Allies to shoulder all the defense burden and that the Germans must do their part to prepare against possible Soviet aggression. Chancellor Adenauer revealed he had asked the Western powers to make a "security treaty" with his Bonn regime to replace the occupation statute.

The Communist party in this country announced it would fight with every weapon at its disposal against the proposal to make public the names of all members of the party and the state of party finances.

The principal Republican spokesman in the Senate on tax problems predicted the passage during the coming short session of Congress of an excess profits levy on corporations.

SUDDEN TOTAL WAR AGAINST THE UNITED STATES WOULD SCUTTLE THE GOVERNMENT'S PRESENT PLANS FOR MOBILIZATION ECONOMY

In this final article of a series reporting to Americans on "What We Face" under constantly growing national mobilization for defense, Malcolm Johnson describes what total mobilization would be like if the country suddenly was plunged into a major war.

By Malcolm Johnson
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—(INS)—A sudden total war against the United States would most certainly scuttle the Government's present plans for a mobilization economy of "guns and butter too."

That would be the least of it. If total war comes, total mobilization must follow—something this nation has never had to do.

With total mobilization, and all that it implies, the American way of life, as we know it, would disappear for the duration.

Washington's current plans do not blueprint all that might be expected—at least not for publication—if all-out war strikes America. But there is plenty of "backstage" speculation. The possibility has not been overlooked and the overall picture is grim enough.

It would be a war for survival, a war involving the whole population.

The potential physical horrors of such a war brought to America's shores have been sufficiently dramatized. They would involve possible atomic attacks, possibly the death of millions of citizens, the destruction of cities.

But aside from these terrors, the nation for the duration would be under rigid control, dictated by military needs.

Every able American, regardless of age or sex, would be compelled to work for the war effort.

Millions in manpower would be needed for civilian defense.

Millions more would be drafted for industry.

Economists predict that, from the very first, the national budget would shoot up to a minimum of $150 billions a year.

Taxes would skyrocket.

Individuals would be told when and where to work, and what to produce.

The nation's industrial might—it's potential has never been reach-

HIGH WINDS AND TORRENTIAL RAINS WREAK HAVOC IN AREA; BRISTOL BORO' DAMAGE TOTALS THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS; HOUSES UNROOFED, FIREMEN KEPT ON JUMP

Gale Reaches 33 Miles an Hour Today — Trees, Poles and Wires Down — Electric Service Disrupted — Police and Fire Stations, Rescue Squads, Utility Company Offices Flooded With Calls.

"Thousands of dollars in damage in Bristol alone!"

This was the "on the run" report of Fire Chief Clifford Hagerman this morning as he directed crews of firemen throughout the borough as they attempted to cope with the gigantic task of fighting fires, and protecting properties from water damage. Countless roofs were blown off when a terrific wind and rain storm struck the area.

"The calls are so numerous it will be some time until we can compile them," Hagerman stated, as calls continued to flood the switchboard at Bristol municipal building. "Firemen have their hands full, with roofs off all over town; and traffic blocked in many areas by poles and trees being ripped down."

A similar situation occurred at the headquarters of Bucks County Rescue Squad, Croydon, where attempts were made to secure names of individuals injured in accidents. "We are treating a number of people here at headquarters," stated a squad representative. "Several of our workers are out on calls now."

The wind and rain storm which struck this section of the country during the night affected the routine of thousands of people throughout Bucks County.

Highway traffic was at a minimum, those having no reason to go out on business remaining indoors; while telephone traffic was reported at a maximum.

Wind reached a velocity of 33 miles an hour at seven o'clock this morning.

The switchboard at Bristol police station was flooded with calls as information came in that wires and tree limbs were down, signs blown across sidewalks and streets; the Bell Telephone Company had countless calls informing of service disrupted; while the Philadelphia Electric Company likewise has a busy day.

Streams in the county are swollen with torrential rains; and in various low spots, and at some street and highway intersections motorists and pedestrians who did brave the storm found water fairly high.

The barometer reading at the plant of Rohm & Haas Co. here was .950 at nine o'clock this morning. The records at the same plant showed the wind velocity as follows: Friday, three p. m., six miles per hour; 11 p. m., 19 miles per hour; this morning, three o'clock, 26 miles; seven o'clock, 33 miles; nine o'clock, 28 miles.

Although complete information is lacking in many instances, due to police and other officials being swamped with calls, some of the main damage was as follows: bus passenger waiting room uprooted and turned upside-down near plant of Rohm & Haas Company; large sign ripped from roof of Acme Market, Bath and Otter streets, and hurled to side-walk; roof blown across Route 13 at Third avenue; large bill-board down at Farragut avenue and Hayes street; chimneys blown down at homes of William Chance, Wilson avenue, and Joseph Kervick, Wood street; bill-board blown down near deMarchis' place on Route 13; countless poles reported down throughout lower Bucks County, according to state police at Langhorne barracks.

At least three display windows were broken in the business area. A plate glass window, 6x4 feet, was blown out at Fabian's Pharmacy, Radcliffe and Mulberry streets; an overhead sign fell at Mignoni's Jewelry Store, Mill street, breaking a window approximately 8x7 feet, and at the side of the store a door was blown off its hinges. At Diamond Sporting Goods Store, Mill street, a large display window was also blown out by the blast of wind.

There were numerous instances of electric current being off, one section affected being along Newport road, Bristol township.

Two television aerials were blown down at Mansion street homes.

A tree limb, broken at Mulberry and Cedar streets, rested on wires; while at Bellevue avenue and Beaver street, Hulmeville, a broken limb caused wires to fall against a sign-board, with occasional bursts of fire.

One large limb fell across the sidewalk on Beaver street, between Prospect and Buckley streets.

A garage door was blown off at the property of John Hardy, Pond street.

Philadelphia Electric Co. officials received numerous calls regarding wires down over a wide area.

Many householders had to search for garbage cans and other items stored near their houses and which

'PLANE JAMBOREE IS SCHEDULED TONIGHT

Aeromodeleers Indoor Meet To Be at Edgely Fire Co. Station

FLIERS FROM 7 CLUBS

Preparations have been completed for the Aeromodeleers 'indoor model airplane jamboree to be held this evening in Edgely Fire Co. station. Model fliers from clubs of Bristol, Hatboro, Perkasie, Quakertown, Newtown, Bustleton, and Trenton will be on hand to fly control line stunt type models.

Flying will be done with the smallest of stunt control line models powered with engines from .02 to .09 cu. inch displacement. In addition to this there will be staged aerial dog fights with two or more models in the air at once, speed demonstrations and exhibitions of larger models. The larger models will not be flown because of the necessary safety precautions that must be taken indoors, the size limitation making the fliers use control lines that would be too short. Some of the larger models will be flying scale models and speeed and jet models in the 150-mile-per-hour class. All consideration has been made to see that all spectators will have an enjoyable evening. Everyone is welcome to at-

STRIKING EMPLOYEES REJECT FIRM'S OFFER

Rohm & Haas Co. Officials Increase Offer To 8 Cents An Hour

ALL WORK STOPPED

A new wage offer made by Rohm & Haas Company officials to striking employees has been rejected, according to an announcement made today by the firm.

The shut-down has been in effect at Rohm & Haas Co. plant here since Tuesday morning.

Representatives of the union and the Rohm & Haas Co. met again yesterday with Commissioner Frank Walsh of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service in a further effort to settle the strike at the company's plant here. Officials state the company raised its offer to eight cents per hour increase, which with the five cents given earlier in the year, would amount to 13 cents increase.

The union refused this offer, it is stated, and negotiations were again broken off until Monday. Meanwhile all production at the plant has stopped.

The strike of 200 maintenance workers affects approximately 1500 employees.

The union involved is Local 88, Federation of Glass, Ceramic and Silica Sand Workers (CIO).

The union had asked for 30 cents per hour increase, then cut its demand to 17 cents.

BUY AND USE THE SEALS

So accustomed have people become to Christmas Seals that the Yuletide season would be drab without them. Something would be lacking if they were not available, something with a friendly, humane message, which has the true significance of the period for which they are designed. The forty-fourth annual sale of these cherished emblems expressive of good will and hope for better health conditions is getting under way.

Many persons will receive installments of seals through the mails and otherwise. During the holiday season, as well as earlier, these messengers of mercy are to be used on letters and parcels entrusted to the mails or forwarded in other ways.

Money derived from the sale, as everyone knows, is to be used in the fight against tuberculosis. Each purchaser will be contributing to a project in which every community has a stake. It will be great if everyone is liberal in purchase and use of the seals.

SHEEP FROM THE GOATS

The Hoover Commission had this to say about air mail compensation paid to the nation's airlines: "The present method of concealing the amount of subsidy in payment for carrying mail by aircraft appears to us unsound and should be abandoned." Mr. Truman asked Congress to carry out this recommendation in his 1951 budget message, noting that total air mail payments were running at about $125,000,000 annually.

Just how confusing this system of lumping subsidy and postal payments together can be is best illustrated by the reactions of a frustrated congressional committee. This group tried to find out how much what government agency was paying to which airline. Unfortunately, under the Civil Aeronautics Act, the Civil Aeronautics Board sends one figure over to the Post Office Department. This lumps the amount due for carrying air mail in with an amount which the CAB considers necessary to keep the airline going.

The CAB has only a confused picture of how much goes for mail and how much goes for subsidy. The Post Office Department just pays the bills. It is a cozy situation and that doesn't reflect well on the administrative ability of the airlines.

No one, however, is more anxious to see this business ended than the major airlines themselves. The great majority of them are backing the Hall Bill, which has been introduced in the House, and presumably will get some attention during the session of Congress which is to convene later this month.

If enacted, the bill will have the effect of separating the sheep from the goats in the air transport industry. It will show up the ones who are doing a conscientious job of contributing in every way to the future of air travel and will help weed out the free riders.

In government it is known as stockpiling. If the housewife does it it is hoarding.

other buildings.

When the Doylestown Zoning Code was revised Jan. 5, 1949, the block in which the old service station is now located, was changed to R-4. The Zoning Board of Adjustment, following testimony by many property owners, including the directors of the Central Bucks Joint School Board's new $2,500,000 junior-senior high school building, who were opposed to having a modern, flashy service station, refused to make an exception in the Zoning Code and upheld the residential area stipulations.

The Zoning Board's decision was backed up by at least 10 property owners with only one woman, who owns a vacant lot, protesting. The woman and her husband had purchased the lot from the Phillips and were not aware of the change in the Zoning Code.

tend. It will begin at seven p. m. this evening.

At Wednesday's Aeromodeleers' meeting various problems concerning the jamboree were discussed as well as ways and means of making the club meetings more interesting to attract new members. It was decided that more model flying activity should take place at the club's model airport on Sundays, and all members were urged to turn out tomorrow with models to fly. It was also decided to designate Wednesday evening, Dec. 6th, as auction night, when all members and other models fans may take left-over model engines, kits and accessories to be auctioned off. Roland Smith will act as auctioneer for the club.

Neshaminy District

LANGHORNE, Nov. 25 — According to a letter which Dr. Oliver Heckman received recently from Dr. Ira R. Kraybill, executive secretary, Commission on Secondary Schools, Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Neshaminy high school has been placed on the accredited list for the year 1950-51. There are approximately 300 of the 1100 public high school in the state that are members of this association.

Membership in the Middle States Association indicates that the school has been evaluated by its local staff and by a reviewing committee appointed by the Commission on Secondary Schools. The Association is primarily concerned with improving the standards of secondary schools. Colleges establish their own admission standards without reference to membership in accrediting associations.

The Neshaminy high school continues to be on the approved list of the many colleges and universities to which its students have been admitted during the past four years.

Bristol Borough

"The annual celebration of American Education Week has again conclusively shown," says Warren P. Snyder, superintendent of the Bristol public schools, "that the majority of all parents are genuinely interested in the schools attended by their children."

"Not too many years ago parents frequently felt that a visit to the schools was generally considered a stigma on their neighborhood reputation—that it indicated something was wrong with Johnny or Mary. Today that feeling has been broken down. Parents come to the schools because schools are interesting and helpful and because teachers, after all, are human beings with a heart and an interest in the child as big as their own."

"The recognition this year of American Education Week has been most gratifying to the teachers after learning that there were 1264 visitors in the schools during the week."

"As in past years, the schools are looking forward to a continuation of these visits from parents throughout the school year."

Sudden Total War Against U. S. Would Scuttle Plans For Mobilization Economy

ed, the economists say—might be strained to the utmost.

All supplies would be controlled. Virtually everything would be rationed and the civilian economy stripped to bare necessities.

There would be price ceilings, wage ceilings, manpower control, allocations of all materials, a complete set of priorities on all supplies.

All transportation would be under control, including railroads, airlines, bus lines, trucks and perhaps even automobiles and taxicabs.

These are among the possibilities in a total mobilization for total war.

Government officials say they are not worried over how Americans would rise to that emergency.

They are more worried, they admit privately, over whether Americans can be convinced of the necessity for lesser sacrifices over possibly a long period of years when such an emergency is not immediately apparent.

They are wondering if the people will have the patience and the determination to endure some privations, to forget "business and pleasure as usual," during the long drive ahead to achieve peace.

For even if open, all-out war is averted, some sacrifices will be necessary, despite the sugar-coated pill being initially offered in the form of "guns and butter too."

That's for sure—no matter what else the Washington experts may tell you now.

In his recent message to the American people, Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall called the turn when he said in part:

"The mobilization of free men involves a long drawn out and intricately planned business and the longer the necessity continues, the more severe will be the test of the character of the men and nations involved.

"With each succeeding month, with each succeeding year, there will be heavier and more pressing demands on the moral and spiritual qualities and powers of our men and women.

"The determined quest of security for the world, as we have come to learn, is a heavy burden to be carried along a steep and sometimes bloody road. Only strong nerves and firm resolution will suffice.

"But while we physically arm, we must keep clearly in mind that it is not the mere possession of weapons that will win the struggle. It will be more the spirit of the resolution to persist to the end that will achieve the ultimate victory, a stable peace. . . .

"We must act now and in the future to prevent further sacrifices and terrible hazards due to failures here at home.

"The time for debate draws to a close. Americans must make their decision and stick to it for years to come."

2 OLDEST SANDLOT TEAMS IN E. PA., ARE TO BATTLE

St. Ann's A. A. and Ditman A. A., two of the oldest sandlot gridiron teams in the eastern part of Pennsylvania, will clash tomorrow afternoon on the high school field in a semi-final game of the Northeast Football Conference. The opening kickoff will take place at 1.30 o'clock, one-half hour earlier than the usual starting time.

The St. Ann's management is anticipating one of the largest crowds of the season because of its efforts in getting the game to be played here. It is the first playoff game of the conference to be played in Bristol and should the crowd be encouraging, there is a possibility that if St. Ann's gets into the final, it will be played here.

The winner of the St. Ann's-Ditman fracas will play the Tacony Boys Club for the title next Sunday. Tacony entered the finals by beating the Olney Vets on Thanksgiving Day.

In their previous meeting this season, Ditman scored a close 8-6 triumph over the "Saints." The Bristol boys are seeking revenge and an opportunity of retaining the crown it won in 1949 by beating Ditman in the final game, 6-0. Ditman won six and lost one during the regular season this year while the "Saints" had an off-and-on year, winning five and losing three.

Leading the St. Ann's gridders against the Big Green will be Nick Spadaccini who starred for Rider College for three seasons and led them to an unbeaten year in 1949.

Spadaccini has been the spark of the offensive power of the club since he joined the squad. In seven games he has scored eleven touchdowns and reached the peak last Sunday when he crossed the goal line four times against Willow Grove and had another called back because a teammate was holding.

Against Willow Grove, Spadaccini carried the ball 21 times from scrimmage and gained a total of 230 yards. He was stopped without a gain on one occasion and lost ten yards another time when a reverse failed. Not included in the yards gained was the 48-yard run for a touchdown which was nullified. In addition, the St. Ann's halfback was credited with a 25-yard run-back of a kick.

At the other half-back position for the Purple and Gold will be Jack Millard. Millard had been used defensively most of the season but has been able to get around to the practice sessions lately to learn the plays. Millard will be used offensively against the Ditman team. He is also a former Rider College back and during the 1949 season carried the pigskin 46 times and gained 468 yards for an average of 10.1 yards per try.

"Bill" Marion and "Ed" Henratty will round out the locals' offensive backfield. Henratty will call the signals with Marion doing the fullback work.

In the line, Coach Pete Bornice will start Howard Keys and Clarence Anderson at ends; Luke Wade and Frank Dudek, tackles; Buck Profy and Buster Monachello, guards; and Nick Lomma, center.

Bornice and his assistant, Joe Roe, have a fine array of substitutes which are capable of replacing the regulars at any time.

Mainstays of the Ditman team are Bob Young and Joe O'Keefe. This passing combination has paved the way for most of the Ditman wins this season. It was O'Keefe's catch of a pass which enabled the Wissinoming team to top St. Ann's in their first meeting.

NICK SPADACCINI

Who scored four touchdowns against Willow Grove last week and who will lead the St. Ann's gridsters against Ditman A. A. tomorrow afternoon in a semi-final game of the Northeast Football Conference on the high school field.

Thanksgiving Offering Will Aid Missionaries

With a goal set at $500, the Thanksgiving offering for a specific missionary project, went "over the top" at Calvary Baptist Church on Thursday. The total offering was $572.

This, the pastor, Lehman Strauss, announces, will be sent to the Rev. and Mrs. Donald Nichols and family. The Nichols and their three children are to move soon to a new mission station, about 2,000 miles northeast of their present one in Brazil. The thanksgiving offering will care for transportation costs.

ST. FRANCIS LOSES A HARD-FOUGHT GAME

BORDENTOWN, N. J., Nov. 25—St. Francis Vocational School lost its final game of the season yesterday afternoon to the Bordentown Manual Training School eleven, 12-7, in a hard-fought contest.

The Eddington boys played hard and fought until the final whistle. The game ended with the ball on Bordentown's two-yard line with St. Francis having two more downs to go, having had an incompleted pass before the end.

St. Francis was first to score, counting early in the second session after a sustained march of 80 yards. A forward, "Ace" McGann to George Hefner gained 13 yards and put the ball on the 2-yard stripe from where Gus DeBello carried it over. Dave Potter plunged over for the PAT.

Late in the same period, Bordentown scored. It lugged the ball on successive line plays from the 25-yard line to the one. For three downs, the St. Francis forward wall held but on the fourth down, Powell went over on an off-tackle slice. Powell missed the extra point try.

The Jersey team scored the winning touchdown in the third quarter. "Chuck" Lally booted to the 15-yard line from where the Manual Training School eleven started another drive. From the 18-yard line, Brown tossed the touchdown pass to Bishop.

"Chuck" Lally did some very fine punting for St. Francis, averaging close to 50 yards on kicks. Clark played fine defensive ball with Gus DeBello excelling in the backfield.

High Winds and Torrential Rain Wreaking Havoc

were blown into the streets and across lawns.

At Doylestown a main portion of a large tree crashed through a roof at a house owned by Councilman C. Eldon Clemens, 264 S. Main street. The occupants of the second floor are the Misses Young and McElroy. No lives were endangered, however, it is stated, as the tree did not penetrate as far as the second floor where the one apartment is located. Christmas decorations at the county seat, which were just placed yesterday, also suffered from the storm. Some neon stars which cost $30 apiece were blown down. The holiday lighting was to go into effect there tonight.

According to officers of Mill Street Business Men's Association the strands of laurel, part of Christmas decorations, are "taking a beating."

Bell Telephone Co. reports considerable trouble with lines, countless calls being received from a wide area.

On Mansion street half of a garage roof was picked up by the wind, and deposited nearby.

A large locust tree on Cedar street, between Mulberry and Walnut streets, was ripped up by the wind.

In front of the residence of Mrs. Thomas Hawkes, Edgely, a large tree was blown across the highway. Traffic was detoured around it.

Further reports from Chief Hagerman at 10.30 were to the effect that not only are roofs ripped off at various spots throughout the borough, but that on Lincoln avenue tin roofs were ripped off an entire row of houses. With tarpaulins failing to hold in the high blasts of wind, firemen had to search for other material to protect the interiors of the houses from the elements.

"There are a lot of electric lights out all over town," reported Hagerman, whose men were kept on the jump trying to clear streets of poles, trees, limbs and other debris.

A fire occurred at a house on Pine street, but firemen had only incomplete details in the rush.

Harry Giest, Washington avenue, Croydon, was on the roof of his home this morning, attempting to prevent the roof from blowing away. The wind blew both the roof and Mr. Giest down. He received abrasions of face, fractured left arm, lacerations of right ear. Bucks Co. Rescue Squad provided treatment.

Some trains were delayed in this area shortly after nine a. m., today, difficulty being experienced with electric current.

A Statement from Local No. 88, C. I. O.
Maintenance Workers

It is not our intention to degrade or belittle the Rohm & Haas Company. It is true this is the first time in their 41 years history Rohm & Haas has been shut down by a legitimate strike. There has, however, been many work stoppages because of labor disputes in their Knoxville plant. So their intimation that their labor relations has been beyond reproach is not exactly a true picture.

They have been among the leaders in company benefits but we have paid for those benefits by accepting 3 to 5 cents per hour less than that for which the national pattern called in the past 4 years.

Rohm & Haas, like every other successful company, is dependent upon three (3) things; right products, good, sound investments and satisfied employees. It is the old "three-legged stool." All three must be well balanced or the stool becomes unsteady and may even totter. All three are dependent upon each other and all three must be given equal consideration.

Rohm & Haas, without a doubt, has the right products. Their financial rating certainly is also beyond question, they are as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar on this subject. The C. I. O. represents the interest of the employees to see that they are satisfied. The balance of the stool is very important to us.

Therefore, we would like the Rohm & Haas Company to answer a few questions. Did they or did they not, in the past nine months of 1950, make more net profits than what they made for the full year of 1949, even with a $7,000,000 expansion program? Does the Rohm & Haas Company say that they are unable to pay the wage increase which we have asked? Will it jeopardize their position financially? Has or has not the productivity of their employees been increased per man hour over the past two years? If so, why shouldn't the employees who are responsible for this increased productivity share proportionately in their accelerated profits? If not, how do they explain their almost doubling of their net profits along with a $7,000,000 expansion program? What is their honest answer to these questions?

We resent the innuendoes of the company regarding the defense program. Rohm & Haas' defense status at this time is approximately 20% defense work, 80% commercial. We not only agreed to shipment of Army and Navy orders as long as they are such but we have already allowed material to go out even though it was only indirectly connected with the defense program.

We have not only met with the Conciliator but have made an honest attempt to reach a settlement. Can Rohm & Haas Company say that they have made an honest effort to make a settlement?
